COPYRIGHT AND RESTRICTIONS

The copyright law of the United States (Title 17, United States Code) governs the making of photocopies or other reproductions of copyrighted materials. The various state privacy acts govern the use of materials that document private individuals, groups, and corporations.

Under certain conditions specified in the law, libraries and archives are authorized to furnish a reproduction if the document does not infringe the privacy rights of an individual, group, or corporation. These specified conditions of authorized use include:

- non-commercial and non-profit study, scholarship, or research, or teaching
- criticism, commentary, or news reporting
- as a NPS preservation or security copy
- as a research copy for deposit in another institution

If a user later uses a copy or reproduction for purposes in excess of "fair use," the user may be personally liable for copyright, privacy, or publicity infringement. This institution's permission to obtain a photographic, xerographic, digital, or other copy of a document doesn't indicate permission to publish, exhibit, perform, reproduce, sell, distribute, or prepare derivative works from this document without first obtaining permission from the copyright holder and from any private individual, group, or corporation shown or otherwise recorded.

Permission to publish, exhibit, perform, reproduce, prepare derivative works from, sell, or otherwise distribute the item must be obtained by the user separately in writing from the holder of the original copyright (or if the creator is dead from his/her heirs) as well as from any individual(s), groups, or corporations whose name, image, recorded words, or private information (e.g., employment information) may be reproduced in the source material. The holder of the original copyright isn't necessarily the National Park Service. The National Park Service is not legally liable for copyright, privacy, or publicity infringement when materials are wrongfully used after being provided to researchers for "fair use."

This institution reserves the right to refuse to accept a copying order if fulfillment of the order is judged in violation of copyright or federal or state privacy or publicity law.
HISTORY

The Yosemite Slide Collection was managed by the Museum Branch in the Interpretive Division as part of the Audiovisual Library, also known as the Visual Center or Yosemite Museum Slide Archive. It is an artificial collection of slide acquisitions donated to the museum branch, as well as images taken by National Park Service employees to document the conditions, management, activities, and resources of Yosemite National Park. Historically, the Visual Center functioned primarily as a resource for Interpretation Division staff when creating interpretive programs for the general public. However, the Yosemite Slide Collection was, and continues to be, open to requests by any entity including park partners and the public.

Yosemite Slide Collection

CATALOG NUMBER

VOLUME  78 linear feet (106,830 total items; approximately 60,000 unique images)

DESCRIPTION

The Yosemite Slide Collection contains 2”x2” 35mm color transparency slides. The slides include original cardboard or plastic mounts. Metadata is often written in ink or pencil directly on the slide mount or printed on an adhesive label and placed directly on the mount. 3”x3” color transparency slides are located throughout the collection, and have been called out in the summary field. The Yosemite Slide Collection also contains 4”x2” stereo slide mounts. Two View Masters are stored with the Yosemite Slide Collection for viewing stereo slides in 3-D. Within the sub-subseries Interpretive Slide Shows (H-03-09-yyyy) there are associated audio cassettes, 8-track audio tapes, reel-to-reel audio tapes, and floppy discs containing media designed to complement prepared slide shows. Within this sub-subseries there are also paper transcripts outlining the Interpreters verbal content presented during prepared slide shows.

The majority of images were taken between 1950 and 1998. Images from the Historic Photograph Collection, which is managed by the Yosemite Research Library, were reformatted into 35mm slides and are included in the Yosemite Slide Collection. These images date back to 1867. Historic photograph reproductions have been incorporated into the established Yosemite Slide Collection hierarchy based on subject matter. When possible they have been called out as a sub-subseries titled Historic Photographs and located at the end of a topical series or subseries.

All images within the collection pertain to Yosemite National Park. Yosemite’s landscape, natural resources, cultural resources, influential personalities, architecture, management history, and park partners are all represented in the collection.

ORGANIZATION

The Yosemite Slide Collection is organized based upon the hierarchy established by Norma Craig, Slide Librarian until 2005. During Norma’s tenure the slide collection was continuously being accreted to. Given the collection’s constant state of change Norma established a hierarchy based not only on the slides currently in the collection, but also on topical subjects anticipated to appear in the collection.

Presently, Yosemite Slide Collection is organized into eleven series. The first eight series are based the physical environment, natural resources, cultural resources, visitor activities, and park management and history as follows: A-Scenic Images; B-Pictorials; C-Physiography; D-Plants; E-Animals; F-Ethnography; G-Visitation; H-Park History and Management.

The final two sections are reserved for collections gifted to Yosemite National Park. In these cases it was important to retain the original order and provenance. Images were kept in the order they were received from the donor whenever possible. These include: J-Donated Collection; K-Concessioners Collections.

Each series is further broken down into subseries and sub-subseries. Beyond the sub-subseries level items are arranged by item number. During processing and cataloging unique slides are assigned a ten-digit item number based on series letter, subseries number, and sub-subseries number.

PROVENANCE

35mm Slides included in the Yosemite Slide Collection were originally housed in the attic of the Yosemite Valley Museum Office. An inventory of the Audiovisual Library from 1970 created by Helen L. McClendon indicates a total count of 45,757 slides. By 1998 the Library was stored in metal filing cabinets in the Archives Annex office space in El Portal and managed by Norma Craig. At this time Norma estimated the collection consisted of 100,000 slides. As early as 1988 Norma Craig began assigning local accession numbers to slide acquisitions. These local accession numbers pertained only to the Slide Archive. Norma’s local accession records note the name of the donor, extent, subject matter, and, at times, the copyright status of the images. Local accession records are stored in the Yosemite Slide Collection folder in the Archive Annex office. Accessions were also tracked in tabular form by Norma. This table has been digitized and is located on the U: as a PDF (U:InterpretationProjectsAids & Collections InfoCollectionnormaCraig_local_acc_list.pdf)

Norma Craig retired in 2005. In May of that year the Slide Library was accessioned as one field collection, YOSE-06815. Many slides were previously accessioned into the museum collection, and were accounted for upon processing and cataloging.

RESTRICTIONS

Copyright:
No copyright restrictions for images taken by National Park Service employees while working in their official capacity, or for images taken by a photographer whose work was commissioned by the National Park Service. No copyright restrictions for images that were donated to the Park with a Deed of Gift that specifies the images can be used freely.

All other images are subject to U.S. copyright laws.

SERIES DESCRIPTIONS

Color transparency slides of scenic features and views in Yosemite National Park.

Subseries are organized by feature type and arranged alphabetically. Sub-subseries are further defined by specific place name also arranged alphabetically. Peter Browning’s, 1988 Yosemite Place Names was originally used as a guide for correct place name usage.

B. Pictorials

Non-site-specific representations of concepts, such as seasons, sunset, and rainbows. This series also contains artistic interpretations of nature and patterns.

Subseries are defined by concepts and, when needed, further divided into logical sub-subseries, i.e. Summer, Fall, Winter, Spring.

C. Physiography, 1939-1996

Images relating to geology, astronomy and other physical processes including avalanche, weather, and frazil ice

D. Plants, 1940-1999

Plants and plant habitats native to the Sierra Nevada’s and Yosemite National Park Series D is organized by scientific classification. Subseries are based on Divisions of the Plant Kingdom. Each Division is further divided into sub-subseries defined by plant Family name and arranged in alphabetical order, colloquial or common names are noted parenthetically. This hierarchy was established in the 1990s, some species have since been assigned a different plant Family. These changes have been noted in the summary field; however, the hierarchy has not been adjusted to reflect these changes.

E. Animals, 1926-1997

Images of vertebras and invertebrates native to the Sierra Mountains and Yosemite National Park. Insects, reptiles, amphibians, fish, invertebrates, birds, and small, medium, and large mammals are represented in the collection.
Series E is divided into subseries based on Class within the Animalia Kingdom. Classes are further divided into sub-subseries by Family name and arranged alphabetically.

Images primarily taken or identified by Craig Bates, Yosemite National Park Curator of Ethnography 1986-2006. This series documents the people and the material culture from the Miwok Traditions, as well as photo documentation of cultural demonstrations, including Indian Field Days, 1991, and traditional structure reconstruction.

Series F is divided into three subseries: people, material culture, and demonstrations, and further divided into sub-subseries defined by proper nouns, i.e. individuals name or site location, when appropriate, or by demonstration activity.

G. Visitation, 1941-2000

Visitation documents the rage of activities that visitors can or have engaged in while visiting Yosemite National Park. The series also documents the impacts that the large number visitors to Yosemite National Park have on natural resources and infrastructure. It focuses on overcrowding, traffic congestion, and pollution. This subseries includes images documenting the Park’s recycling program and reproductions of historic images.

Visitation is organized into two subseries: visitor activities and visitor impact; then divided into sub-subseries based on visitor activity type or resource impacted by visitation.

H. Park History and Management, 1869-2000

Color transparency slides that document the history and management of Yosemite National Park. This includes images of important individuals, sites and structures, special events, natural occurrences, and documentation of work by park divisions and partnering organizations.

Sub-subseries are defined by proper nouns when appropriate, i.e. Specific building name, place name, park division, organization’s title, specific event title, etc.

I. Subject Files, 1867-1995

Images pertaining to a specific subject including logging, farming, military in the park, women in NPS, safety, etc.
J. Donated Collections, 1941-2000

The series Donated Collections is made up of slide acquisitions that were either arranged as a group to serve a specific function or were donated to the park as a cohesive group where in maintaining original order is necessary. Items in these collections are contained within a subseries and not accreted into the slide collection hierarchy based on subject matter.

Original order of each collection is maintained whenever possible. Subseries titles are defined either by the photographer’s or donor’s name.

06. Dunnagan, Robert
08. Ferguson, William E., 1974-1975
13. Horton, Elouise, circa 1950

Slides in this subseries consist of images within Yosemite National Park captured by photographer Elouise Horton. Subjects documented in this sub-subseries are the Firefall, a summer time ritual that ran from 1872 until 1968; Scenery, which includes picturesque images of waterfalls, rivers, lakes, mountains, bridges, giant Sequoia trees, and wildlife at in the park; Yosemite Lodge at the Falls, consisting of images of the hotel’s exterior as well as its dining room; and Yosemite Lodge “Décor Over the Years,” that showcases holiday decorations of various rooms inside the hotel. The slides are undated, but décor appears to be from the 1950s.
Individual slides within this subseries have been arranged alphabetically by the following subject groupings: Firefall, Scenery, Yosemite Lodge at the Falls, and Yosemite Lodge “Décor Over the Years.”

Slides in this subseries include various images of Yosemite National Park captured by photographer Jim Marotta-Jaenecke. Most of the images were captured between the late 1970s to early 1980s and document various fauna, flora, scenic locations and landscapes, and structures of Yosemite National Park. Images showcase incidents such as fires and prescribed burns, floods, and rockslides, as well as natural phenomena such as constellations, moonlit streams, sunrises and sunsets, and snow, frost, and ice. Images falling under the Yosemite Association subject grouping document various field courses led by the organization. This collection also includes images from other parks and scenic destinations in California, such as the Tahoe Lake area, Sequoia and Kings Canyon National Park, and the American River.

This subseries is arranged alphabetically by the following subject groupings: Badger Pass, El Capitan, Fauna, Fires/Prescribed Burns, Flora, Floods, Forest, Half Dome, Landscapes, Lee Vining Canyon, Lundy Canyon-Autumn, Meadows, Mount Dana/Dana Plateau, People, Rocks/Talus, Rockslides, Sentinel Rock, Sequoia and Kings Canyon National Parks, S.F. American River/Tahoe Region, Snow/Winter, Stars and Moonlight, Structures, Sunrise Camp, Sunrise/Sunset, Turtleback Dome, Water, Waterfalls, Yosemite Association. Park locales and features depicted in a particularly high number of slides were typically given their own subject grouping (i.e., Badger Pass, El Capitan, and Half Dome), while those locales and features less prominent within the collection (i.e., the Clark Range, Gaylor Lake, and Mount Conness) were typically arranged within other subject groupings, mainly Landscapes.
