COPYRIGHT AND RESTRICTIONS

The copyright law of the United States (Title 17, United States Code) governs the making of photocopies or other reproductions of copyrighted materials. The various state privacy acts govern the use of materials that document private individuals, groups, and corporations.

Under certain conditions specified in the law, libraries and archives are authorized to furnish a reproduction if the document does not infringe the privacy rights of an individual, group, or corporation. These specified conditions of authorized use include:

- non-commercial and non-profit study, scholarship, research, or teaching
- criticism, commentary, or news reporting
- as a NPS preservation or security copy
- as a research copy for deposit in another institution

If a user later utilizes a copy or reproduction for purposes in excess of "fair use," the user may be personally liable for copyright, privacy, or publicity infringement. This institution's permission to obtain a photographic, xerographic, digital, or other copy of a document doesn't indicate permission to publish, exhibit, perform, reproduce, sell, distribute, or prepare derivative works from this document without first obtaining permission from the copyright holder and from any private individual, group, or corporation shown or otherwise recorded.

Permission to publish, exhibit, perform, reproduce, prepare derivative works from, sell, or otherwise distribute the item must be obtained by the user separately in writing from the holder of the original copyright (or if the creator is dead from his/her heirs) as well as from any individual(s), groups, or corporations whose name, image, recorded words, or private information (e.g., employment information) may be reproduced in the source material. The holder of the original copyright isn't necessarily the National Park Service. The National Park Service is not legally liable for copyright, privacy, or publicity infringement when materials are wrongfully used after being provided to researchers for "fair use."

This institution reserves the right to refuse to accept a copying order if fulfillment of the order is judged in violation of copyright or federal or state privacy or publicity law.
HISTORY

Passage of the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (NEPA) dramatically altered the way all federal agencies—including the National Park Service—were required to approach and execute environmental planning and management. While responsibility for environmental planning and compliance duties originated in the superintendent’s office, Yosemite National Park's Environmental Planning and Compliance (EP&C) Branch of the Project Management Division was established in 1999 to ensure all projects taking place in the park comply with the National Environmental Policy Act, the National Historic Preservation Act, and other laws and regulations as set forth in the National Park Service Director's Order #12.

To further enhance the purpose and policy of NEPA, Executive Order 11514 (1970) directed federal agencies to develop procedures to ensure that the public can review, understand, and comment on environmental impacts in a timely manner. During the public scoping period, the public is encouraged to provide concerns and comments that will determine the range of issues addressed in a plan’s alternatives. A description of the proposal, including a statement of the purpose and need for the project and a list of project goals, is provided by the park. The public is then asked to respond with comments, concerns, and suggestions relating to these goals.

The growth of the Project Management Division and, subsequently the EP&C Branch is linked to the development of the Yosemite’s long-range conceptual General Management Plan (GMP). The 1980 GMP was released to the public on October 31, 1980, after a six-year planning process which included extensive public involvement. The primary goals of the 1980 GMP are to reclaim priceless natural beauty, reduce cars and congestion, allow natural processes to prevail, reduce crowding, and promote visitor understanding and enjoyment. Implementation projects were developed to realize the goals of the GMP; these projects required scoping, environmental review, compliance, and permitting.

One of the objectives of the GMP was to remove nonessential employee housing from Yosemite Valley. The Yosemite Valley Housing Plan (1992) was designed to address this objective. This plan proposed improvements to NPS, concessions, and visitor services housing in the valley. The Yosemite Valley Housing Plan Draft Supplemental Environmental Impact Statement (SEIS) for the General Management Plan proposed five alternatives for housing 1,359 employees. The preferred alternative provided primary housing for over 900 employees at a new development site in Foresta. When this alternative did not meet with public approval, a revised Yosemite Valley Housing Plan SEIS was released and was open for public comment from late 1996 through March 1997.

In 1993 the park invited public input for the Valley Implementation Plan (VIP). The VIP objectives also furthered the implementation of the GMP, including removing unnecessary structures, restoring and protecting recovered land, relocating other facilities out of sensitive or hazardous areas, and reducing traffic congestion in Yosemite Valley. Public input received centered around the issues of transportation, employee housing, restoration of recovered lands, day use limits/reservation systems, and the improvement of interpretive services.
The Draft VIP was scheduled for release in February 1997, but was delayed by record flooding of the park in early January, 1997. After the release of the draft in November 1997, a series of open houses and workshops were held throughout California, as well as walking tours of sites where specific actions were proposed. Over 3,800 comment letters were received regarding the Draft VIP SEIS and analyzed by staff at the National Park Service’s Denver Service Center.

Designated “Highwater 97A”, the 1997 flood severely damaged Yosemite Valley infrastructure, campgrounds, guest lodging, and employee housing facilities. Park planners sought advice from within the agency and from the President’s Council on Environmental Quality (CEQ). Project management determined that redesigning and rebuilding employee housing and guest lodging at Yosemite Lodge would be a separate planning process from the VIP, and this was pursued as the Yosemite Lodge Design Concept Plan (DCP). The intent of the DCP was to quickly restore services at the Lodge and implement the provisions of the 1980 GMP. This included removing facilities from the newly-defined floodplain, restoring riparian habitat, reducing the number of lodging units, consolidating concession housing, providing additional employee support functions, and reducing in the overall footprint of the Lodge complex.

Site plans for the Lodge were modified because of the extent of flooding and the need to replace more employee housing than originally proposed. The most significant changes were the complete relocation of employee housing out of the floodplain to the eastern portion of Camp 4 (Sunnyside Campground) and placement of new guest cabins, roadways, and parking lots north of Northside Drive in the Swan Slab bouldering and climbing area. After site walk-throughs with NPS and concession services staff, representatives of the environmental and climbing communities expressed strong negative reactions to the encroachment of facilities into the Swan Slab area, the amount of new development, the aerial extent of the new proposal, and removal of the Lodge gas station.

Based on this initial input, changes were made to the preliminary VIP design. The Draft Yosemite Lodge Design Concept Plan/Environmental Assessment (DCP/EA) was prepared and released to the public for a 30-day review and comment period. Numerous revisions were made to the project, including deferring the proposed closure of Northside Drive back to the VIP. In July 1997, the park released a Finding of No Significant Impact (FONSI) on the Lodge DCP/EA. Park staff continued working on ways to address unresolved issues that had been raised during the public comment phase.

On May 26, 1998, the group Friends of Yosemite Valley, along with the American Alpine Club, Access Fund, and several other climbing organizations and prominent climbers filed suit in US District Court in San Francisco against the National Park Service over the Yosemite Lodge DCP (Friends of Yosemite v. Babbitt). They alleged that the NPS had failed to prepare an environmental impact statement on the project and to consider reasonable alternatives to the proposed action. They also claimed that the park violated the NPS Organic Act, the National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA), and the Administrative Procedures Act. Based on negotiated limits to the scope of action on the Lodge project, plaintiffs did not seek a preliminary injunction, and work at the Lodge continued.
The NPS further modified the Lodge DCP and issued a Modified FONSI on August 3, 1998. The main modification was to defer any action on employee housing at Yosemite Lodge to the Yosemite Valley Housing Plan. This decision would allow consideration of the potential impacts of employee housing at Yosemite Lodge together with the impacts of other housing-related issues in the same environmental document.

On August 20, 1998 the Sierra Club filed a related complaint (Sierra Club v. United States), charging violations of the Wild and Scenic Rivers Act, the National Environmental Policy Act, and the Administrative Procedures Act, and filed for a preliminary injunction. The issues were argued before Judge Charles Breyer on October 1, 1998. All construction work was stopped at Yosemite Lodge with Judge Breyer granting the plaintiff’s request for a preliminary injunction; however, demolition of existing flood-damaged buildings was not contested, and therefore continued.

Following the judge’s ruling, Yosemite management asked the judge for a remand to fold most elements of the Lodge DCP into the Draft VIP Environmental Impact Statement, then in preparation for re-release. The issue of employee housing was to be included in the Yosemite Valley Housing Plan/SEIS, due for completion in early fall. The new planning document for Yosemite Valley would be an Addendum to the Draft VIP, to be released in late spring or early summer of 1999. The Environmental Impact Statement for the Yosemite Valley Housing Plan would be released as an Addendum to the Draft Environmental Impact Statement, at the same time as the VIP Addendum, to allow the public to review and comment on both documents together.

However, in late November, 1998 Secretary of the Interior Bruce Babbitt, Regional Director John Reynolds, and Superintendent Stan Albright decided to combine the Yosemite Valley Housing Plan, Yosemite Valley Implementation Plan, Yosemite Lodge DCP and Lower Yosemite Fall Project into one comprehensive plan called the Yosemite Valley Plan (YVP). In this way, all the plans would be covered by a single Environmental Impact Statement. Public concerns identified in the previous plans were brought forward for planning the YVP. Scoping for the new plan was announced on December 16, 1998 and was to close on January 15, 1999. The scoping period was extended to February 1, 1999, because of public protest regarding the short duration of the scoping period, and the fact that it occurred over the holidays. The team reviewing the public scoping comments consisted of five Yosemite NPS employees; all letters were read and scoping level comments were added to a growing database of general and specific comments. The Scoping Comment Analysis Report was made available to anyone interested in reading it. The Draft Yosemite Valley Plan EIS was issued in November 1999; the public comment period closed July 7, 2000.

Meanwhile, flood recovery projects continued. Rehabilitation of El Portal Road (Highway 140), which was severely damaged in the flood, was identified as a GMP project; however, it was not previously funded and its three phases were listed as low priority. Funding through Emergency Relief for Federally Owned Roads (ERFO) allowed emergency repairs immediately after the flood, and these were exempted from NEPA compliance. But the original, aged roadbed needed to be completely rebuilt. Flood recovery funds were an opportunity to complete rehabilitation of El Portal Road, and detailed planning was begun within a short time after the flood.
Park planners began preparation of a Draft El Portal Road Improvements Project Environmental Assessment (EA) in March, 1997 and meetings were held with environmental groups, stakeholders, and Mariposa County Officials and Chamber of Commerce. The plan had two proposed phases: Phase 1 involved emergency stabilization to restore two-way traffic, and Phase 2 consisted of permanent roadbed repairs.

In an action that would ultimately influence future planning efforts, on May 6, 1999, the Sierra Club and Mariposans for Environmentally Responsible Growth (MERG) filed suit, claiming violations of NEPA and the Wild and Scenic Rivers Act (Sierra Club and MERG v. Bruce Babbitt, 69 F. Supp. 2nd 1202). On July 12, 1999, U.S. District Court Judge Anthony Ishii issued his decision in a Memorandum and Order. Yosemite was allowed to complete construction on segments A, B, and C of the road, but Section D could not be completed until the park completed a Comprehensive Management Plan for the Merced Wild and Scenic River. The judge ordered the National Park Service to finalize a Comprehensive Management Plan (CMP) within one year of the issuance of his Order.

The CMP began in June, 1999 with a pre-Notice of Intent scoping period (June 11 - July 14) published in the Federal Register. Responding to complaints from the public that the review period was too short, the NPS granted a two-week extension of the scoping period through July 30, 1999.

Response letters were analyzed by the US Forest Service’s Content Analysis Enterprise Team (CAET). Summary reports identified 101 specific public concerns expressed in over 1000 comments. These summary reports, along with the individual comments organized by topic, were given to the planning team for further analysis and incorporation into the planning process. Based in part on evaluation of public comments, the park decided to prepare an environmental impact statement on the Merced River Plan and not an environmental assessment. In mid-October, a summary of the CAET analysis was put on the park’s planning web page and mailed to over 300 people who sent in scoping comments. The Draft MRP/EIS was scheduled for public review and comment during January and February, 2000. The scope of public input analyzed in the CAET process included all responses submitted during the comment period for the Draft Yosemite Valley Plan as well as public input on previous planning efforts. Thus, comments on the 1992 Draft Yosemite Valley Housing Plan, the 1997 Addendum to the Yosemite Valley Housing Plan, the 1997 Yosemite Lodge Comprehensive Design, the 1997 Yosemite Valley Implementation Plan, the Comprehensive Management Plan for the Merced River, the 2000 Merced River Plan, and the initial scoping phase for the Draft Yosemite Valley Plan were all analyzed, considered, and utilized to craft the Yosemite Valley Plan.

Projects designed to implement the goals of the GMP and YVP were accomplished through flood recovery funding awarded to the park after Highwater 97A. Had it not been for the devastation of the flood, projects such as Lower Yosemite Fall Restoration Project, El Portal Road Reconstruction, Hetch Hetchy Road Drainage Improvements, South Fork Merced River Bridge Replacement, Happy Isles Bridge Removal, East Yosemite Valley Utilities Improvement Plan, Yosemite Valley Wastewater Improvement Project, and construction of the El Portal Resource Management Building would have waited years for available funding to begin implementation.
The above information was drawn from the document, “DRAFT Yosemite Planning/Public Involvement History”, which can be found in Series 1, Subseries B, sub-subseries 3, Folder 48.
SCOPE AND CONTENT

Environmental Planning and Compliance Records

CATALOG NUMBER
YOSE 229582

VOLUME
140.50 Linear Feet (LF)

DESCRIPTION
This collection contains correspondence, memoranda, reports, meeting and field notes, workbooks, and publications. Graphics, maps, architectural drawings, construction plans, and photographs are present in the collection as well as electronic and magnetic media. All material was created in the process of environmental planning and compliance activities.

ORGANIZATION
The collection is organized in four series and further subdivided into thirteen subseries, and six sub-subseries.

PROVENANCE
Materials originated in the Yosemite Project Management Division’s Office of Environmental Compliance. The office grew substantially after the 1997 flood created the need for large-scale recovery projects requiring environmental review and compliance. The records were received by Yosemite National Park Archives between 1999 and 2011 in six accessions: YOSE-06433, YOSE-06546, YOSE-06696, YOSE-06826, YOSE-07151, and YOSE-07205.

RESTRICTIONS
Although this collection is open to the public, some files contain sensitive information and may require a research permit and/or solicitor approval.

SERIES DESCRIPTIONS

Arranged in two subseries and six sub-subseries

Documents relating to Yosemite National Park’s Implementation Plans including: General Management Plan publications and correspondence, Yosemite Valley Implementation Plan, Yosemite Valley Plan, and early Merced River Plan public scoping correspondence; analysis of scoping and resultant reports; Draft Environmental Impact Statements, Draft Environmental Assessments; comment letters and staff response to comment letters; Administrative Record, and public hearings documents.

Organized in two sub-subseries as follows: Sub-series 01: Draft reports, workbooks, summaries, final reports, correspondence; Sub-subseries 02: Copies of correspondence from the Resource Management Records regarding the Master Plan and letters forwarded to the YOSE superintendent from various Department of the Interior offices.

National Park Service (NPS) Director Horace Albright instituted the “Master Plan” concept in 1932 as a means to guide national park development in the 20th century and beyond. In 1969, Yosemite National Park began developing a preliminary draft of a new Master Plan to be released for public review in 1971. A Draft Master Plan and Environmental Assessment were released for public review in 1974, but the plan was not accepted by the public or the NPS Washington office. After congressional hearings in December 1974, the Master Plan was shelved and a new planning process began.

The revised General Management Plan (GMP) represented a planning partnership between a new NPS planning team and the public. The plan and its four alternatives were presented to the park’s constituents in a planning workbook containing fold-out posters for visual reference. Forums were hosted in California and around the country. A planning team analyzed over sixty thousand comments, which were entered into a database created on IBM punch cards. Following two years of intensive public outreach and analysis, the new draft of the GMP was presented in 1978.

Major changes to the GMP were instigated by NPS Director Bill Whalen, delaying planning efforts. The plan was finally released in October 1980. The GMP set five major goals for the park: 1) reclaim priceless natural beauty, 2) markedly reduce traffic congestion, 3) reduce crowding, 4) allow natural processes to prevail, and 5) promote visitor understanding and enjoyment.

The General Management Plan provides overall guidance for planning in the park. Subsequent implementation plans such as the Valley Implementation Plan, Yosemite Valley Housing Plan, Yosemite Lodge Design Concept Plan, and Yosemite Valley Plan strove to fulfill the specific goals of the GMP.

Records are arranged as received from the office of origin.

Included in this sub-series are draft reports, planning workbooks, summaries, final reports, and correspondence related to the creation of the General Management Plan.

Sub-series 2. General Management Plan Correspondence, 1968-1976

Records are arranged chronologically within alphanumeric central file code.

The sub-series contains correspondence with central files coding (see NPS Disposition Records Schedule 19) originally from Resource Management Records regarding the Master Plan. Letters forwarded to the Yosemite superintendent from various DOI offices are also included in the sub-series.

Subseries B. Public Involvement Process, 1992-2004

The Subseries is organized into four sub-series.

Original and working copies of public concerns received during official comment periods for the Draft Yosemite Valley Housing Plan (1992), Addendum to the Yosemite Valley Housing Plan (1997), Yosemite Lodge Comprehensive Design (1997), Yosemite Valley Implementation Plan (1997), Merced River Comprehensive Management Plan (2000), Merced River Plan (2000), and Yosemite Valley Plan. Documentation of the public comment analysis process and final analysis reports as well as public outreach material is included.

Sub-series 1. Original Public Comment Letters, 1992-2004

This sub-series is grouped by plan and arranged by Yosemite National Park item number. For planning efforts prior to the Yosemite Valley Plan, the National Park Service assigned an item number to each letter preceded by the plan acronym. During scoping for the Yosemite Valley Plan a new item number was assigned to pre-Yosemite Valley Plan comment letters by the Content Analysis Enterprise Team (CAET). Both item numbers are represented on folder titles with CAET item number range first and Yosemite National Park item number range second.

This sub-series contains original public comments from five planning efforts. Listed in chronological order, and with open periods for public comment listed in parentheses, these plans include: the Draft Yosemite Housing Plan/SEIS (August-September 1992); Addendum to the Draft Yosemite Housing Plan/SEIS (December 6, 1996-April 1, 1997); the Yosemite Lodge Design Concept Plan/Environmental Assessment (April 10, 1997-May 16, 1997); the Draft Yosemite Valley Implementation Plan/SEIS (November 27, 1997-February 23, 1998); the Draft Merced River Comprehensive Management Plan (2000); and the Draft Yosemite Valley Plan (March 28, 2000-July 14, 2000). Along with letters received during the formal comment periods, this sub-subseries also contains letters received outside the formal comment period.

Correspondence and reports are placed at the beginning of the sub-subseries, followed by public comments arranged by comment number.

This sub-subseries contains the original Yosemite Valley Implementation Plan (VIP) scoping letters from 1994, and working copies of VIP scoping letters used by the comment response team. Copies of comment letters received after the release of the Draft VIP from November 1997 to March 1998 comprise the bulk of this sub-subseries. These copies were processed and analyzed by the Denver Service Center. Each letter has an associated Revised Data Entry Form for the Draft Yosemite Valley Implementation Plan/SEIS which identifies characterization fields used in analysis. A small amount of staff correspondence is included as well as the VIP Public Comment Analysis Report.

The subseries is arranged as follows: 1) Assorted working files regarding the initial assessment of previous public comment analysis; interagency partnership including correspondence and court agreement documents; procedure list and schedules for the screening process of public comments; and public comment response team correspondence 2) Staff response to comments; correspondence regarding response team member’s assignments and due dates; and revised drafts of responses to public comments 4) Final CAET narrative reports 5) CAET coded public comments including Pre-Yosemite Valley Plan Comments and Yosemite Valley Plan Draft Comments. Public comment letters are arranged numerically by CAET assigned item number and are split into two conceptual groups: Pre-Yosemite Valley Plan and Yosemite Valley Plan Draft. Pre-Yosemite Valley Plan comments are further broken down into five groups: Y1 - initial scoping phase for the Draft Yosemite Valley Plan; Y2 - Yosemite Valley Implementation Plan; Y3 - 1997 Addendum to the Yosemite Valley Housing Plan; Y4 - 1997 Yosemite Lodge Comprehensive Design; and Y5 - 1992 Draft Yosemite Valley Housing Plan.

Between 1999 and 2000 the National Park Service partnered with the U.S. Forest Service (court agreement number AI 8800-00-001 and AI 8800-99-032) to analyze public input for Yosemite Valley Plan Supplemental Environmental Impact Statement. Letters, emails, faxes, and public meeting transcripts were analyzed using a process developed by the United States Department of Agriculture, Forest Service, Washington Office Ecosystem Management Staff, and the Content Analysis Enterprise Team (CAET). The scope of public input analyzed in the CAET process include all responses submitted during the comment period for the Draft Yosemite Valley Plan as well as public input on previous planning efforts. Thus, comments on the 1992 Draft Yosemite Valley Housing Plan, the 1997 Addendum to the Yosemite Valley Housing Plan, the 1997 Yosemite Lodge Comprehensive Design, the 1997 Yosemite Valley Implementation Plan, the Comprehensive Management Plan for the Merced River, the 2000 Merced River Plan, and the initial scoping phase for the Draft Yosemite Valley Plan were all analyzed, considered, and utilized to craft the Yosemite Valley Plan.

The public comment analysis process comprised three components: a coding structure, a comment database, and a narrative summary. All public comments relating to earlier planning efforts, or received during the comment period for the Draft Yosemite Valley Plan, were copied by Yosemite National Park and sent to Missoula, Montana where the US Forest Service CAET coding station was established. Initially, a coding structure was developed to help sort comments into logical groups by topic. Letters were broken into comments and each comment was assigned a code derived from a range in topics covered in relevant present and past planning documents, National Park Service legal guidance, and the letters themselves. For each comment in a piece of correspondence, codes were assigned by one staff person, validated by another, and then entered verbatim into a database as quotes from actual public statements. The database was then used to construct a narrative summary. A group of Yosemite employees and members of the BRW/URS Consulting Engineers spent several weeks working with the Content Analysis Team to code letters and enter comments into the database.

Public response comments were also coded for response level. Letters which needed immediate attention or requested information were tracked through the CAET process, summarized, and distributed on a weekly basis. Gary Howard of BRW/URS Consulting Engineers was responsible for making the initial response to these two comment types. Comments that did not require an immediate response were further screened and sent to a Comment Response Task Group for reply.

This sub-subseries contains correspondence, reports, database printouts, public comment letters, and staff responses to comments representing the CAET analysis process.

Records are arranged as received from the office of origin.
A team of Yosemite National Park staff was assembled to facilitate the dissemination of planning information to the public and to formulate broad strategies to promote public involvement from the scoping period for the Yosemite Valley Plan (1998) through the Record of Decision (2001). This team was divided into three groups: the production group, support group, and communications group. The initial “education phase” of public involvement was intended to prepare the public to immediately begin reviewing the Draft Yosemite Valley Plan when it was released for public comment. Public involvement activities and efforts included in-park public education and interpretation, wayside exhibits, open-house exhibits, newsletters, fact sheets, internet services and web page development, media relations and press packets.

This sub-subseries contains correspondence and meeting minutes of the Communication Team, also referred to as the Staff/Public Involvement Team; documentation of public involvement activities; draft mailing list and a representative sample of mail-back flyers.

Originally there were 7.5 linear feet (6 boxes) of mail-back flyers which were used to collect the addresses of individuals interested in receiving material related Yosemite planning efforts. This information is reflected in the mailing list database that was maintained until July 2000. A sample of original mail-back flyers (.5 linear feet) was retained in the collection and the remaining originals were culled. Representative examples were chosen to reflect variations in received media preferences (i.e., CD-ROM, hard copies, summary reports); items returned due to forwarding notice expiring; items returned with the address corrected by addressee; notification of addressee being deceased; items with substantial comments added (all retained), and email request, phone request, postcard or other means of request.

SERIES II. Implementation Projects, 1997-2007

This Series is organized in eleven subseries.

Implementation Projects are site-specific projects tiered from implementation plans. The majority of projects were in response to damage incurred after record flooding in the park in January 1997 and were funded by flood recovery monies.

The subseries is arranged by original binder titles. The binder contents are followed by Flood Recovery Quarterly Reports, correspondence, and Environmental Assessments and Findings of No Significant Impact for various areas of Yosemite National Park.

On January 1-3, 1997, the combination of an early snow pack and a warm tropical storm resulted in the biggest flood in Yosemite in 42 years. Resulting damage to the park’s infrastructure was unprecedented; three of the four access roads into the park (Highway 140, Highway 120, and the Hetch Hetchy Road) were impassable. The Yosemite Valley
The sewer system experienced heavy damage; all of the water well systems were damaged or destroyed. Hundreds of campsites, lodging units, and concessionaire employee housing units were severely damaged. The estimated cost for flood repair and restoration was $178,053,000.

After the flood, a US Forest Service Type 1 Incident Command Team, a Yosemite Management Team, NPS staff from the Denver Service Center and representatives from the Federal Lands Highway Program assessed damage and estimated repair costs. The Type 1 Team was eventually replaced by two smaller teams and finally by an in-park recovery team. Environmental compliance was overseen by Mark Butler, Yosemite’s Physical Scientist within the Resources Division; the office was consolidated into the Flood Recovery Team and grew quite substantially to address the multiple Flood Recovery projects. A Reopening Task Group was formed early in the incident to evaluate each park area for suitability for reopening to staff and visitors.

Those making the real property damage assessments recorded their findings and recommendations on a Damage Assessment form which included headings such as Assessment ID, Jurisdiction, Alternate ID, Damage Category, Damage Type, Severity, Damage Description, Recommended Action, Procurement Method, Net Construction Cost, and Maps of Damaged Area. Various versions of assessment forms include: Yosemite National Park Damage Assessment January, 1997; Yosemite Damage Identification Report Yosemite Highwater Incident ’97 (1/8/97 IDREPT); and Yosemite National Park Highwater 97 Damage Assessments (1/28/97). Additional assessment forms include: Federal Highway Administration Central Federal Lands Division Damage Site Reports (DSR); Western Region Housing Inspections (form Rev. 08/28/92); and United States Department of the Interior National Park Service Package Estimating Detail (Form 10-802 Rev. 1-76). Over fifty Park Service staff members and other specialists completed the Damage Assessment forms.

The forms pertained to specific areas or buildings; once completed, these forms were given an alphanumeric code (such as V001-V010 for Valley assessment sites 1-10) and placed in a binder with the code written on a tab. The binders were labeled by area affected, such as “Yosemite Valley #1 through #4”, “El Portal #1 and #2”, “High Country Parkwide”, “Mather/Wawona”, “Concessioner”, “Repair Damage (Insurance Buildings)”, “ERFO” (Emergency Relief for Federally Owned Roads), and “Other”. A binder labeled “Ansel Adams Gallery” contains the report Accessibility Evaluation for Ansel Adams Gallery (2002); it is unclear if this project was flood-related. Included with some of the Yosemite Valley and El Portal forms are color photographs of the flood-damaged areas and buildings.

The subseries contains reports and publications, including: A Report to Congress/Yosemite Flood Recovery Action Plan (September 1997); Yosemite National Park Flood Recovery Quarterly Reports (December 1997 through September 1999); Detailed Assessment Report/Yosemite National Park Highwater 97A (March 1997); Environmental Considerations for Planned Safety Improvements During Emergency Repair of El Portal Road Between Parkline and Pohono Bridge (April 1997); and The Merced Canyon Travel Corridor/Yosemite National Park, California (July 1997). In addition, the following are included: Draft Yosemite Lodge Area Development Concept Plan Environmental Assessment and Finding of No Significant Impact (FONSI); Environmental Assessment/FONSI Yosemite Lodge and Camp 4; Environmental Assessment/Finding of No Significant Impact Hetch Hetchy Road and Drainage Improvements; and Evaluation of Historical Significance and Integrity of the Hetch Hetchy Road, Yosemite National Park: Determination of Eligibility for Listing in the National Register of Historic Places.

Present in the subseries is correspondence regarding the Native American Graves and Repatriation Act (NAGPRA) issues, Highway 140 recovery strategy, preparation for Congressional hearings, responses to questions from the hearings, campground redesign issues, historic preservation, environmental compliance issues, recovery costs and funding, construction, and a copy of President Bill Clinton’s letter to the Speaker of the House (March 19, 1997) requesting Fiscal Year 1997 emergency supplemental appropriations. Correspondence appears to be primarily from the office files of Jerry Mitchell (Branch Chief of Cultural Resources/Chief of General Management Plan Implementation).

Records are arranged as received by the office of origin.

Yosemite Falls is the highest waterfall in North America (2,425 feet), consisting of the 1,430-foot Upper Yosemite Fall, which plunges to a 675-foot chain of cascades, flowing to the 320-foot Lower Yosemite Fall.

The Lower Yosemite Fall area has traditionally been the most highly visited natural feature in Yosemite National Park; however, the beauty of the Falls was frequently eclipsed by the congestion of tour buses, shuttle buses, cars, bicyclists and pedestrians. Visitors were subjected to long lines at the inadequate restrooms. Trails were undersized and degraded, which led to damage of the surrounding streamside and forest floor.

The National Park Service considered rehabilitation of the Lower Yosemite Fall area a priority and a workshop was held in 1992 to consider ways to approach improving visitor enjoyment, education and accessibility. In 1995, the National Park Service and the primary nonprofit fund raising organization for the park—The Yosemite Fund—agreed to work jointly on a proposed rehabilitation of the area. Planning for the rehabilitation started in 1997.

The primary components of the project were: removing the parking lot and remnant roadway pedestrian path; creating a meadow/forest opening on the site of the parking lot; rebuilding or removing footbridges and trails; installing educational exhibits highlighting the area’s natural and cultural history; providing wheelchair access to primary viewing areas; demolishing the existing restroom and infrastructure; restoring streamside and forest habitat; constructing a new shuttle bus stop; constructing a new restroom; creating new entrances, educational exhibits, and a gathering circle for groups; installing amenities such as bike racks, waste receptacles, and a drinking fountain; constructing and installing all new directional signs; opening vistas and rebuilding quiet spaces that invite visitors to linger and learn, and creating informal picnic areas.

In December 1996 the Office of Lawrence Halprin, Inc. (OLH) was selected to design improvements to the area. Halprin is considered an influential landscape architect, known for bringing environmental sensitivity to his designs. Landscape architect Paul Scardina was the main liaison between OLH and the NPS project team, and he authored the bulk of the OLH correspondence present in the subseries.

Leading the NPS project management team was Amy Schneckenburger, who later stepped down and was replaced by Randy Fong as Project Manager (2001). Other members of the project team were Mark Butler, Palmer “Chip” Jenkins, Gary Colliver and Wendy Vittands. NPS staff biologists, botanists, archaeologists, and ethnographers were also involved in consultation and planning.

Yosemite Fund staff members represented in the correspondence are Bob Hansen (President), Tracy Akroyd, and Jerry Edelbrock.

A series of planning workshops were held in the late 1990s, with public scoping taking place in 2000. A consultation and walk-through of the project area with local tribal representatives from the American Indian Council of Mariposa County and the North Fork Mono Rancheria resulted in further scoping measures (July-August 2001) when it was made evident that the location of the new restroom and trail would impact traditional Native American mushroom gathering areas.

The Draft Environmental Assessment was produced by URS Corporation and edited by NPS staff. Draft sections of the Environmental Assessment with annotations/marginalia are part of the collection.

The subseries contains correspondence in the form of memoranda, email, and letters primarily between OLH, Yosemite Fund and the National Park Service. Correspondence also includes consultation with the U.S. Department of Fish and Wildlife, State of California Office of Historic Preservation, and American Indian Council of Mariposa County.

Arranged as follows: 1) Administrative Records for C-99-0707 MMC; 2) Administrative Records for C-99-5219 AWI; 3) Working project files. Records are arranged as received by the office of origin and follow the environmental compliance process.

El Portal Road was closed for five months following severe flood damage in 1997, isolating essential maintenance, administrative, and housing functions in El Portal from Yosemite Valley. This created interruptions in operations, emergency medical services, and visitor access. Reconstructing El Portal Road became a top priority for the NPS. In August of 1997 Yosemite planners released the El Portal Road Improvements Environmental Assessment in preparation for construction of 7.5 miles of road from west of the park boundary to Pohono Bridge. This was a Flood Recovery implementation project funded by three Flood Recovery Packages (900, 930, 936), as well as the Yosemite National Park’s Fee Demonstration and Emergency Relief of Federally Owned Roads (ERFO) funding. Primary funding for El Portal Road construction came from package 936 and was contracted to Kiewit Pacific Construction Company.

In 1998 Mariposa County filed a lawsuit (court case CIV F 98-6062 AWI DLB) against the National Park Service claiming a violation of National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA) for failing to consider the significant impact on the economy and community of Mariposa when the NPS decided to condense the construction calendar into a two-year span rather than spread it out over three years with fewer closures. Mariposa County’s lawsuit was dropped in court and their motion for a preliminary injunction was denied. Construction continued along the first 6.5 miles of the El Portal Road.

Another lawsuit was filed against the National Park Service in 1999 (court case CIV F 99-5219 AWI DLB) by the Sierra Club and the Mariposans for Environmentally Responsible Growth (MERG). The plaintiffs argued that the National Park Service had failed to comply with NEPA and violated the Wild and Scenic Rivers Act when developing the Environmental Assessment, Finding of No Significant Impact (FONSI), and Biological Assessment for the El Portal Road Construction. The lawsuit resulted in a court injunction against construction in the final mile—referred to as “Segment D”—and an order to prepare a Comprehensive Management Plan for the Merced Wild and Scenic River.

The park completed its first Merced River Plan (MRP) in 2000; litigation by the same plaintiff group resulted in an order to prepare a new Comprehensive Management Plan. The park then completed the Revised MRP in 2005. At that time, the court declared that the injunction on Segment D had vacated with the publication of the Revised MRP. However, the Revised MRP was also challenged and found invalid. The park then prepared a court-mandated Comprehensive Management Plan for 2009. The National Park Service’s argument that repair, rehabilitation, and resurfacing work within the Merced corridor should proceed in advance of the publication of the new MRP in 2009 was accepted by the court. In 2007, an Environmental Assessment and FONSI were published for the Reconstructing Critically Eroded Sections of El Portal Road project.

This subseries contains project files from 1997 to 2007 related to the planning, design, construction, and resource monitoring of the El Portal Road Improvement Project. This subseries also consists of duplicate sets of administrative records from the El Portal Road Improvements Project relating to the completion of the Environmental Assessment, Biological Assessment, and FONSI. One set of administrative records was originally assembled in 1997 in binders that were referred to as “Books” and titled “C 99-0707 MMC.” The other set of administrative records was duplicated for use in the lawsuit.
between Mariposa County and MERG vs. the National Park Service and included documents related to the litigation and settlement of this lawsuit in 1999. Material types include correspondence, reports, oversized construction plans, photographs, and negatives.

Subseries D. Mirror Lake Trail Reconstruction Project, 1989-2000

Arranged as received by the office of origin, Environmental Planning and Compliance, following the environmental compliance Process.

After record flood levels in January of 1997, over 3,600 feet of the Mirror Lake Trail was destroyed. Yosemite National Park’s Office of Flood Recovery proposed to reconstruct and relocate approximately 5,460 feet of the Mirror Lake Loop Trail. The Draft Environmental Assessment for the Mirror Lake Loop Trail Reconstruction Project was released for public comments on August 28, 1998. This comment period was open through September 15, 1998. The Final Environmental Assessment/Finding of No Significant Impact (FONSI) report was released on September 28, 1998.

This subseries contains records relating to the completion of the FONSI report in accordance with the National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA) guidelines. Record types include correspondence, reports, and photographs which document natural and cultural compliance efforts, public involvement, and internal review.

Subseries E. Hetch Hetchy Road and Drainage Improvements, 1997-1999

The subseries is arranged as follows: correspondence; public comments; internal review comments; project management plans; Evaluation of Historical Significance; FONSI Report; reference material. Records are arranged as received by the office of origin and follow the environmental compliance process.

Hetch Hetchy Road was damaged in the January 1997 flood primarily because of poor drainage and associated erosion problems. The City of San Francisco funded the improvements and the Office of Flood Recovery oversaw National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA) and Section 106 compliance. An Environmental Assessment was released in September 1998 followed by a Finding of No Significant Impact report in October of 1998.

This subseries contains correspondence and reports relating to the completion of the Environmental Assessment and the FONSI report in accordance with NEPA guidelines. Many of the records relate to the Evaluation of Historical Significance for the Hetch Hetchy region.

Arranged as follows: correspondence; internal scoping comments and public scoping comments; work schedule; consultation with external agencies; Draft Environmental Assessment; internal reviews; FONSI; public comments; reference material.

South Fork Bridge spans the South Fork of the Merced River and is located on the Wawona Road (Highway 41) within the Wawona developed area. The South Fork Merced River Bridge Replacement Project fell under the Yosemite Valley Plan as an example of an implementation project. The bridge was declared critically deficient in 1992 by the Federal Highways Administration. An Environmental Assessment and Finding of No Significant Impact (FONSI) were developed in 1996 for the South Fork Bridge Replacement Project. The project was deferred and it was determined a new Environmental Assessment was necessary due to additional damage caused by the high water incident of 1997. A Record of Decision (ROD) on the Merced Wild and Scenic River Comprehensive Management Plan was signed in August 2000 and revised in November 2000. An additional lawsuit prevented the further progress of this project until a July 2004 decision that allowed it to move forward. An updated Environmental Assessment was released for public comment in April 2003 and a revised FONSI was signed on July 24, 2003.

This subseries includes correspondence, Project Management Information System (PMIS) project detail sheets, reports, photographs, negatives, digital media, and ledger-sized construction plans relating to the completion of the final 2003 Environmental Assessment and FONSI for South Fork Merced River Bridge Replacement Project, in accordance with the National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA) guidelines.

Records are arranged as received by the office of origin and follow the environmental compliance process.

The flood of 1997 left the resource management office buildings located in Yosemite Valley severely damaged. The NPS Office of Flood Recovery proposed to construct an approximately 8,500 square foot, two-story building adjacent to the existing maintenance/warehouse complex at Railroad Flat in the El Portal administrative site in Yosemite National Park, Mariposa County, California. The building was proposed to serve as the Resources Management Center for Yosemite National Park, and as a temporary location for the Office of Flood Recovery. The project was to be funded by Flood Recovery Package 903. The Construct Resource Management Building Environmental Assessment was released on July 28, 1998, for a thirty-day public comment period. The Final Environmental Assessment and Finding of No Significant Impact was approved in January 1999.

This subseries contains records relating to the completion of the Environmental Assessment and the FONSI report in accordance with the National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA) guidelines. Record types include correspondence, reports, and oversized construction plans which document natural and cultural compliance efforts, public involvement, and internal review.

Arranged as follows: correspondence; scoping; public scoping comments; work schedules; consultation with external agencies; Draft Environmental Assessment; internal reviews; public comments; FONSI and Section 7 of the Wild and Scenic Rivers Act; Yosemite Fund grant request; reference material. Records are arranged as received by the office of origin and follow the environmental compliance process.

The Happy Isles Gauging Station and Bridge Removal Project was a Flood Recovery implementation project under two larger National Environmental Policy Act planning documents: The Yosemite Valley Plan and the Merced River Plan. It was initiated after structural damage occurred during the high water incident of 1997 and the bridge was deemed unsafe by the Federal Highways Administration. The removal of the damaged Happy Isles Bridge would undermine the structural integrity of the USGS Happy Isles Stream Gauge. In order for the gauge to remain in operation the Yosemite Fund funded the relocation of the gauge to the opposite bank of the river.

This subseries contains correspondence, reports, and ledger-sized construction plans relating to the completion of the Environmental Assessment and the Finding of No Significant Impact report in accordance with NEPA guidelines.

Records are arranged as received by the office of origin.

The Yosemite Valley Wastewater Improvement Project began in 1998. The project was initiated in response to the Yosemite Valley flood in 1996, which inundated many of the wastewater management infrastructure systems, causing damage to integral equipment which compromised the system. Managed by the Office of Flood Recovery, the project lasted from 1998 to 2002 and was funded primarily through Flood Recovery Package 955.

This subseries contains project management records which include initial project proposals, manuals, bid schedules, and work progress correspondence that document the initial planning stages of the Yosemite Valley Wastewater Management Facility Flood Recovery Project. The Draft Project Manual in Folders 1 and 2 lays out the guidelines for the Project. Detailed meeting minutes outline project progress and updates. Various product proposals are represented; however, the main product vendor is Tesco. Tesco pump controller proposals and specifications, along with details of the construction contract award process to Butts Construction, and related correspondence, supplemented with a submittal log, comprise the bulk of this subseries.

The subseries is arranged as received from Environmental Science Associates (ESA). Records are arranged by type of decision document in the following order: Communication (COM), Meetings (MTGS), Client/Public Comments (CPC), Environmental Assessment (EA), Agency Decision Documentation (ADD), Agency Consultation (CNSL), Reference Material (REF), and Project Management (PM).

The Cascades Diversion Dam Removal Project was initiated in 2001. In the mid-1980s, after 68 years of operation, the hydroelectric facility associated with the dam was taken offline due to decay. The dam was classified as a high-hazard structure due to further damages sustained in the 1997 flood as well as deterioration associated with age. Initial scoping for the potential removal of the Cascades Diversion Dam began on April 18, 2001. An environmental assessment for the Cascades Diversion Dam Removal Project was released for public review on February 21, 2003. The public review period closed on March 24, 2003. The Finding of No Significant Impact (FONSI) was released in May 2003. Environmental Science Associates was contracted by the National Park Service to assist in the production of the Final Environmental Assessment and supply the park with an administrative record.

This subseries contains records relating to the creation of the Cascade Diversion Dam Environmental Assessment and FONSI in accordance with the National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA) guidelines. Document types include correspondence, VHS tapes, low quality black and white photograph reproductions, reports, and oversized maps. ESA coded each record with an Administrative Record Database Organization Submission Form. This is a two-page form with checklists which identify the document category, type of decision document, project name, primary author, publication date, location terms, and keywords. These fields were used to create a database of all documents and records included in Cascades Diversion Dam Removal Project Environmental Assessment Administrative Record. A hard copy of this database is located in folder 2 of this subseries.

Records are arranged as follows: Correspondence; project management; scoping and project schedule documents; press releases; public scoping comments; consultation with external agencies; Draft Environmental Assessment; internal reviews; public comments; FONSI; plans and maps; reference material. Records are arranged as received by the office of origin.

Deteriorating conditions of Yosemite Valley’s sewer system led the State of California to issue Yosemite National Park a Cleanup and Abatement Order (Number 5-00-70) in August of 2000 mandating that Yosemite correct the leaking and failing sewage collection system. The Yosemite Valley Plan (YVP) identified existing utility infrastructure serving east Yosemite Valley as being inadequate because of its age, condition, inadequate capacity, and inappropriate location in environmentally sensitive locations. In July 2003 the National Park Service released the East Yosemite Valley Utilities Improvement Plan Environmental Assessment. The public comment period on the Environmental Assessment was open on July 18 and was extended to September 2, 2003. This resulted in a Finding of No Significant Impact Statement (FONSI) filed in December 2003. Work began in 2004. The East Yosemite Valley Utilities Improvement Project was drafted to comply with the conditions outlined in the first Merced River Plan (2000), and would assist in implementation of actions called for in the YVP. The East Yosemite Valley Utilities Improvement Plan relied upon the YVP Environmental Impact Statement and Record of Decision to meet National Environmental Protection Act (NEPA) compliance. The project was only partially completed when these records were rescinded in the court of law. In a settlement agreement filled October 29, 2009, between Friends of Yosemite and the National Park Service, court case number 1:00-CV-06191-AWI-DLB, the court declared that Utilities Improvement Plan EA and FONSI could proceed as allowed by court orders. Most projects outlined in the report were completed; however, some were enjoined and the NPS was expressly prohibited from completing these projects.

This series contains correspondence, reports, electronic media, and ledger-sized construction plans relating to the completion of the Environmental Assessment and FONSI report in accordance with NEPA guidelines.

SERIES III. Fire Management Plan, 1999-2004

Records are arranged as received by the office of origin.

Revision of the 1990 Yosemite Fire Management Plan was initiated in 1999 due to new fire management guidelines issued by the National Park Service in November of 1998 and subsequently by the release of the 2001 Federal Fire Policy and National Fire Plan. The Draft Yosemite Fire Management Plan/EIS was released on May 10, 2002. The public comment period began on June 18 and lasted through August 27, 2002. The National Park Service received 143 comments that were processed and analyzed by members of the Fire Management Planning Team. The Final Yosemite Fire Management Plan was released in March 2004. After a 30-day comment period the Record of Decision was released.

This series contains records relating to the completion of the Final Yosemite Fire Management Plan in accordance with the NEPA guidelines. It includes public scoping letters and comments received in response to the Draft Yosemite Fire Management Plan; internal reviews; consultation; and correspondence regarding work schedules, final printing, project management, and public involvement. Files from the NEPA coordinator, Jerry Mitchell, comprise the bulk of this series. The collection includes electronic media and one VHS tape.

SERIES IV. Historic Preservation Officer Records, 2001-2010

Arranged as follows: 1) project files including: Lower Yosemite Falls Project, Cascades Dam, Merced River Plan core team, and Cultural Landscape Inventory for El Portal; 2) archival research; 3) reference publications, including inventory; 3) electronic/magnetic media. Records are arranged as received by the office of origin.

This series contains records collected and created by Historic Preservation Officer Jeannette Simons, 2001-2010. It primarily consists of reference material, including reports and documents collected from the Yosemite National Park Archives. Correspondence and personal notes are included as well as internal review comments on environmental assessments for various projects. This series contains photographs, negatives, electronic media, and magnetic media.
